Dear Friends,

As City employees, we work tirelessly to ensure that Los Angeles has a bright future. I am proud of your commitment to this cause and the strides that we have made together. Because of your combined energies, our City's future shines brightly.

It is because of your commitment that I write to you today to encourage you to enroll in the City of Los Angeles Combined Charitable Campaign. Through 11 lead organizations, these funds will support more than 400 charitable organizations that are dedicated to improving our City. The Campaign will kick off October 2nd and run through mid-November. By visiting www.givetola.org, you can learn more about these participating charities and their track record of bettering the lives of Angelenos.

The monumental challenge of creating a better tomorrow is a team effort. And with every City department partnering with the philanthropic community, we can maximize the impact of our collective goodwill.

Thank you for your continued commitment and for making this worthwhile investment.

Sincerely,
